THE FIRST ROLLINS REUNION

By FREDERICK L. LEWTON, x95

WHAT is believed to have been the first of a long succession of reunions of Rollins students, at a point other than Winter Park, was held on the Fourth of July, 1893, on the grounds of the Columbian Exposition, more generally known as the Chicago World's Fair.

The center of the group which assembled in Chicago on this occasion was one of the beloved teachers of those early days at Rollins College, Miss Eva J. Root. Her home was in Hinsdale, Michigan, and as soon as she announced the date when she expected to visit the World's Fair letters were sent to her friends and former pupils suggesting that all who were coming to the "big show" arrange, if possible, to register in the Michigan Building during the week beginning July 1, 1893. The principal Rollins exhibit was shown in the booth devoted to the educational work undertaken by the Congregational Church, but as this place was not as convenient nor as sociable as the parlors provided in the state buildings, the Michigan Building was named as the rallying point. Three were already in town when the writer of this "Review" arrived in Chicago from the east: Arch Shaw, whose home was there, Adolph Hempel, who had a job in the car barns of the Intramural Railroad that conveyed visitors all around the fair grounds, and Emma Mahoney, met in the corridors of Hotel Endeavor on the lake shore at Windsor Park, on June 25th.

By the Fourth of July the following came to the rendezvous to meet Miss Root: Stuart Crawford, Emma and Walter Mahoney, Ida Missildine, Albert Barrows, Arch Shaw, Adolph Hempel, Fred Lewton and William Ingraham, the latter superintendent of the buildings and grounds at Rollins and known to few except by his first name. Other and more largely attended reunions in later years have been much enjoyed, but none left such lasting impressions as the First Rollins Reunion.

WHAT IS AN ALUMNUS?

By REX BEACH, '97

NOT until I returned to Rollins College for my 30th reunion and was elected President of the Rollins Alumni Association did I stop to think what an alumnus is or what he stands for.

I assume he stands for something in the romantic eyes of the undergraduates, but I don't know just what. To the professors, he is the arch-enemy of their teachings in the classroom partly because he is a horrible example of what education actually accomplishes when allowed to take its course, and partly because he is likely to run to reminiscences and dwell too vividly upon his own illicit and perhaps imaginary undergraduate escapades. To the college president he is the big game upon which there is no closed season. He is an ovis poli whose head may be captured and capitalized for the benefit of the college exchequer. To the world at large he is what Horace Greeley must have had in mind when he referred to all college graduates as "horned cattle."

In the pilgrimages I have made to Rollins, I have observed a noticeable change has come over it. The old game of outwitting the common enemy, the professor, which we played with youthful gusto, seems to have become unpopular. Instead is a conference plan of study, where the students are on good terms with their teachers, discussing with freedom and with high intelligence this serious business of fitting themselves for a useful and congenial occupation. I have a deep conviction that the exercise of common sense in educational methods and a greater independence of thought on the part of the students, as illustrated at Rollins, will result in a tremendous thinning out of that useless, wasteful, tragic standing army of misfits and failures, and result in the production of an alumnus entirely worthy of that good Latin name.

All Rollins Alumni will regret to learn that Dr. Blackman suffered a stroke during the early part of November. Dr. Blackman has been confined to his bed since that time but as the RECORD goes to press we are glad to say that his condition is improving daily.

Dr. William S. Franklin spoke to the Apopka Rotary at their noon day luncheon during the latter part of October.

Golden Personalities of the Past

DR. BAKER—OUR MUTUAL FRIEND

By GEORGE MORGAN WARD,
President Emeritus

No one knows better than I, perhaps not so well, the self-sacrificing and important part which the dear Doctor played in the building of Rollins College. When I first came to the institution in 1895 I found a faculty composed largely of Professors of the Classics, Mathematics and History. At the time Doctor Baker had charge of all the Science taught in the institution. While the salaries for their time were small, they were dignified with the exception of the remuneration paid to the Doctor.

For laboratory equipment he had only what he himself and some of the rest of us in our idle hours could manufacture. His classes were larger by fifty per cent than those of any other department. I think I am safe in saying that he had as many students under instruction as all the other departments put together. It was about the time when the Natural Sciences began to be studied by the world at large.

I well remember that my first official act was to raise the Doctor's salary and put it on an equality with that of the other Professors. Nor shall I ever forget his coming to my office after the first pay day with his check and hesitatingly asking me if it were not a mistake. The Doctor, always a retiringly modest man, could seemingly do everything except sing his own praises. That the world was proud and happy to do for him.

In college discipline his helpfulness lay in the fact that the students knew that he was their friend and that anything he advocated was for their best interests.

I cannot illustrate better the position he held in students' hearts than by an incident. There was a household game we all played in that day. It consisted in illustrating with pictures cut from the press or from any other source, books of classic value. The pictures were mounted on cardboard and passed around in the playing of the game. Each person was to guess what book of note each picture (from which the name had been clipped) represented. I remember that on one occasion Mrs. Ward achieved undying fame by inserting among the pictures a photograph of the Doctor. Everybody guessed it. It was of course, "Our Mutual Friend."

BAKER TESTIMONIAL FUND

DR. WARD's heartfelt tribute to Dr. Baker will appear even more eloquent when it is realized he has recently sent a generous check for $100 to the Baker Testimonial Fund. Feeling as all former students do that Dr. Baker is their "mutual friend," they will doubtless wish to join Dr. Ward and a number of most loyal friends of the Doctor in contributing to this Testimonial Fund as a means of expressing concretely their deep gratitude. So far a total of $600.00 has been received and has proved a great comfort to Dr. Baker in his lingering and very expensive illness. There will doubtless be many who will enlarge their holiday happiness by sending in a check. In this connection attention is called to the announcement of Mrs. Baker's book in this issue.

THE GLITTERING QUARTET

by ROBERT P. OLDHAM, x97

THE two years in the early nineties that I spent at Rollins was a critical period in its existence. The second year the freeze occurred, which prostrated the State and crippled the college. No courses were offered in the theory of golf or the strategy of football applicable to an A. B. degree. There were four outstanding professors: Ford, Baker, Austin and Barrows.

With Doctor Baker, who taught physics in a leanto off Pinehurst, I had little classroom contact. His laboratory was self made and limited. He possessed the same endearing qualities which made him so much admired and respected throughout his life by both teacher and pupil. Professor Ford was at the head of the faculty and taught Greek. Our class consisted of two. He was firm but kind. His house was directly back of Knowles Hall, separated only by sandspurs, a barbed wire fence and a sandy road. Sometimes hurrying to class he would take a short cut, attempting to crawl through this fence, and we could see him held by its prongs. The Greek class was conducted quite informally and sometimes on the front porch of his house. Professor Austin conducted the Latin classes. He and Professor Barrows had come from New England, and both were excellent teachers. Professor Austin was austere, immaculate in dress, precise in manner and speech. He was probably not as popular as the other men, but he had a thoroughness and ability to impart knowledge equalled by few.

Doctor Barrows, who had mathematics, was a commanding figure, both mentally and physically, a large, rugged type, with shaggy hair and brows. He lived across the lake, and every day pulled a strong and steady oar to and from college. This rugged nature he brought to his classroom, where he conducted his courses sitting with his students as if one of them.

These are the four men who taught the fundamentals of a liberal education. Each left a lasting impression on my mind, and each one contributed something to my subsequent life. I doubt if a finer and more capable group of teachers could be found in any college. For this reason it is impossible to select the teacher from this group who had the most profound influence.

THE SEMI-CENTENNIAL IN 1935

Do you realize that Rollins will celebrate the 50th anniversary of her founding in the good year 1935—just five years away?

Fred Ensminger (he is doctor now you know) introduced a resolution at a recent meeting of the Alumni Association calling upon the Rollins people to get ready for a semi-centennial celebration in 1934. Among the suggestions included in this resolution were the following:

1. That an effort be made for former students to write the College in their wills and seek friends to do the same.
2. To secure properties from former students and their friends and have deeds made to the college.
3. To bring home to the people of every community in which former students have influence by arranging for President Holt and other College Representatives to address public gatherings.

Won't you send to the Rollins Alumni Record any suggestion you may have?

Edward Warren Rollins Passes On

MY PLANS for the winter are not yet made. I ought to go to California, and I ought to go to England, and I would like to go to Winter Park, and even though I cannot state definitely whether I can be there or not, as long as my position is an honorary one, I might accept it, which I do with great pleasure and appreciation."

So wrote Edward Warren Rollins on September 23 last to President Rex Beach of the Alumni Association in acknowledgment of Mr. Beach's notification that he had been elected Honorary Chairman of the 1930 Reunion of Rollins Alumni.

That Mr. Rollins "wanted" to come to Winter Park in preference to California and England indicated the great love he possessed for the college that bears his name. But the Grim Reaper has called this noble son of a notable family to another destination as recorded by the New York Times of October 8:

"Edward Warren Rollins, a founder of the Boston investment house of E. H. Rollins & Sons, died last night at Dover, N. H., in his seventy-ninth year.

"Mr. Rollins was born at Concord, N. H., on Nov. 25, 1850, was graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1871, and five years later became president of the newly organized banking house. For the last few years he had been honorary chairman of the board. He made his home on a large estate, Three Rivers Farm.

"Mr. Rollins helped organize the Denver Electric Light Company in 1881, and served as its president until 1899. While in the West he helped promote the Denver Country Club, the Denver Club and the Denver Athletic Club. He was president of the last named for several years.

"He was a member of the University Clubs of New York and Boston, the Technology Clubs of New Hampshire and New York, the Old Colony Clubs of Boston and New York, and Middlebrook Golf Club of Dover."

Mr. Rollins will be with us next February in spirit and in the good deeds that live after him. As an indication of his love for Rollins College and his faith in President Holt's program there is arising on the campus the first unit of the new Mediterranean-type buildings — the gift of Edward Warren Rollins.

All alumni of Rollins College extend to Messrs Ashton and Sherwood Rollins their deepest sympathy and join in the following tribute expressed by a recent periodical:

"To the people of Dover Edward W. Rollins stood as an institution of philanthropy. His giving was not limited to any section but extended as far as Rollins College in Florida and his benefactions were in the West as well as the East. It is but natural, however, that to the people of Dover he would seem to be an institution belonging particularly to them. Here was his home, here his generous gifts that became known and his secret giving, revealed to a few friends, endeared him to the hearts of the community.

"Mr. Rollins, fortunately, was able to make an enviable place for himself as an international banker and financier. As founder and senior member of the International Banking house of E. H. Rollins and Sons, his influence extended very far. It was not, however, to get money for the sake of acquisition, but also the passion to make some practical use of the wealth he acquired which distinguished his life."

Miss Elizabeth Donnan, former professor of history, had an article in the October number of the American Historical Review.

Professor E. O. Grover has recently published another anthology, "The Animal Lover's Knapsack" as a companion volume to the "Nature Lover's Knapsack."

Dr. James M. Glass, professor of secondary education, held a series of conferences for high school teachers in Oklahoma City this fall.

Mr. Clarence C. Nice spoke to the Woman's Club of Jacksonville on Nov. 6 on the subject of Municipal Music.

Mrs. A. C. Holme, former dean of women, is a member of the faculty of the University of Southern California at Los Angeles.

Writing the History of Rollins

SHALL we continue this effort to collect Rollinsiana and to discuss it on this page from time to time? Judging from the correspondence that has taken place the votes are all in the affirmative. Please everybody send something in—either funny or serious. Since history is a statement attested by contemporary witnesses that lets you all in as personæ dramatis—if I have my Latin correct, Dr. Hyde. Send us one of those animated and absorbing episodes you have been telling your friends for the past generation. It doesn't have to be about the Battle of Waterloo because the essence of history is to trace the growth of man's ways of life and thought.

The first program to reach us was from Idabel Edwards, now Mrs. Donald Thompson who lives way out in Oregon. Said program was none other than that staged by Dean Enyart thru the Class in English Drama February 20, 1915—can you realize that was fourteen years ago? It was the most embarrassing moment of Ye Editor's life—and he had no Murad—for he sang a solo for the first and last time. His fellow actors were: Arthur Enyart, Gayle Davis, Anna Funk; Sara Yancey, Anne Bellows, Paul Thoren, Geraldine Clark, Clarence Tilden, Raymond Green, Donald Marvin, Ruth Isaacson, Elizabeth Russell, Rose Powers, Katherine Doggett, Geraldine Clark, Katherine Gates, Dorothy Duncan, Irene Thoren, Clella Avery, Ralph Jacobson, Henry Fordham, Gerald Froemke, Bolton Mallory, Sherwood Foley and Leon Lewis.

"Cattle Did Not Run Wild"

Mrs. E. B. Hudson (Gertrude Ford) of Athens, Georgia, has written us a most interesting letter, a part of which belongs in this column. She says that Mrs. Huey's tribute to the late Miss Louisa Abbott touched a tender spot in her heart as Miss Abbott was her first teacher when she entered Rollins in 1885.

Mrs. Hudson says that the old photograph of the campus which appeared in the September issue of the Alumni Record is "somewhat awry." "Cattle did not run wild and that barbed wire fence had been gone a long time. There were lovely tennis courts and a pretty walk from Cloverleaf across to the dining hall. That picture must have been taken in the very early years of the College."

The professor's home referred to in the picture was that of Professor Howard Ford, a charter member of the faculty, who taught at Rollins from 1885 to 1900.

ALL HAIL THE AUTOGRAPH BOOK

Mrs. Richard M. Hudson (Florence M.) has just sent to the Alumni office an interesting bit of Rollinsiana. It has evidently been torn from a much valued "autograph book," much in vogue in the gay 90's. On one side is written:

"Love makes friends everywhere." We assume that this was a little tribute to the heart of Mrs. Hudson from the swains whose names were signed as follows:

Archie D. Shaw
Robert Benedict
Ernest E. Missildine
Cecil Howard Van Sickle
Rollins Quartet.

DR. BAKER'S TADPOLE CLUB

Gertrude Ford Hudson has recently revived interest in an undergraduate organization known as Dr. Baker's Tadpole Club. We are endeavoring to compile a complete membership. All members please send in their names at an early date.

LET'S HAVE A FRESHMAN YARN

Haven't you an old freshman yarn? The Columbia University Alumni News has recently requested that their alumni write up some of the rare old stories that must be buried in the lives of the old grads. If Columbia had freshman jokes, so did Rollins and we, too, would like to reproduce some of them in this page. However, we would not restrict our request to freshmen but would include an appeal for old stories, jokes and pranks about any phase of college activities. Can't some one write up that oft repeated story about that historic occasion when a long line of unmentionables were strung to the flag pole?

"RULES"

On the occasion of the formal opening of Rollins forty-fifth academic year Miss Clara Louise Guild brought a word of greeting from the alumni to the faculty and student body. She mentioned her own undergraduate life at Rollins and told an interesting incident of being remanded for stopping and talking to a young man upon leaving a class room.

"Gentlemen may make calls upon the young ladies at the reception room of the Ladies' Cottage on Friday evenings. The social relations of the young ladies and gentlemen will be under the control of the Principal of the Ladies' Department."

"PANSY"

At the age of eighty-eight Isabella M. Alden, known to the literary world as "Pansy," has undertaken the writing of "Memories of Yesterdays," which she says will be an informal, unchronological memory of the past. We are all curious to know just what part Rollins College and Winter Park will play in these recollections, for it will be remembered by all early students of Rollins that Mrs. Alden and her family occupied what is now the Theta Kappa Nu fraternity house at the corner of Interlachen and Lyman Avenues. Her son, the late Raymond M. Alden, is one of the most distinguished of Rollins men.

Mrs. Alden's new book "An Interrupted Night," published by Lippincott, has just come from the press and an autographed copy of it has been presented to the Rollins College Library by Mrs. Alden, together with "Ariel Custer," the new book of Grace Livingston Hill, with the following much valued inscription, "Presented to Rollins College Library by Grace Livingston's aunt, in memory of very precious days that she and I spent in Winter Park together."

Mrs. Alden's new book, "An Interrupted Night" carries a foreword by this niece, Grace Livingston Hill. In spite of Mrs. Alden's advanced years, she still shows the same sparkle and sincerity and understanding of youth that gave such interest and charm to "Ester Ried" and "Four Girls at Chautauqua." This story tells of how a young girl comes up against one of life's most terrible experiences and with the help of her new found friend fights her way through a maze of trickery and deceit to a fuller understanding of life—and romance in all its beauty.

News of the Rollins Clubs

BOSTON

PRESIDENT HOLT's third official visit with the Rollins Club of Boston was the occasion for a most delightful dinner held on November 12th at the University Club, the arrangements having been made by Eleanor Sprague, president, and Madeleine Appleby, the secretary and treasurer.

A feature of the reunion was the presence of Mrs. Frank Cameron MacCardell, better known as Tiny Hanchett, who came all the way from Providence to greet old friends whom she had not seen for ten years. Another very popular guest was a very distinguished gentleman with mustache and imperial who was recognized as former dean of Rollins, Dr. A. D. Enyart.

Following the delicious dinner, Miss Sprague asked each member present to give his or her summer experiences. This resulted in most interesting anecdotes.

Miss Appleby, secretary and treasurer of the club, read a number of interesting letters from members who could not be present.

The formal part of the program consisted of two talks, one by A. J. Hanna, alumni secretary, and the other by President Hamilton Holt.

Introducing Mr. Hanna, Miss Sprague said she believed that Rollins had the most efficient alumni office of any college in the country. Mr. Hanna first discussed "THE ROLLINS ALUMNI RECORD" and asked for suggestions and news notes. He next outlined the activities of the Alumni Office in keeping accurate record of all former students. February 22nd, he said, would be observed as Alumni Day of Founders' Week in 1930, when all former students are expected to return. He concluded by reporting that the Rollins Loyalty Fund, including the Baker Fund, had now almost reached $2,000 toward the goal of $6,000, which it is hoped will be reached by December 30th.

As she introduced President Holt, Miss Sprague said that she thought few college clubs were privileged to have the President of their college with them as often as was the Rollins Club of Boston. President Holt told of the high quality of the freshman class, of the national and international character of the student body and also explained the new concentration plan as this year's contribution to the Rollins Conference method of instruction. He paid a high tribute to the faculty and also announced programs for the Institute of Statesmanship in January, Founders' Week in February, and the Religious Parley in March. He concluded by outlining plans for the assembling of an adequate endowment and asked that the alumni give general cooperation in this objective.

Those present were: President Hamilton Holt, A. J. Hanna, Eleanor Sprague, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Benedict, Former Dean, Dr. A. D. Enyart, Miss E. Ethel Enyart, Miss Madeleine Appleby, Mrs. F. C. MacCardell (Tiny Hanchett), Mrs. Edgar K. Brockway (Margery Waide) and Harry Nickerson.

ORIENT

The following radiogram was received just as THE RECORD went to press: "We are sending a cargo of good wishes across the miles at Christmas time to all Rollins family may it be a joyous season."

ON THE SIDEWALKS OF NEW YORK

By GLADYS WILKINSON, '29

EAST SIDE and West Side are all the same to former Rollins students, just so they are really in the big city.

First when I arrived, my nose chilled to a ruddy pink from standing outside to get Dame Liberty's greeting at as close a range as possible, leaning over the rail of the Seminole for any possible familiar face in the crowd, I had a hunch that all would be well. Kay Hosmer was with me and after successfully transferring her baggage to the French liner was escorted away by Rosemary Conklin. Kay, however, spent the majority of her intervening days in Orange, N. J., as the guest of her "fellow citizen" of Ft. Myers, Thomas A. Edison. For a week I was with relatives in Long Island and the nearest to any possible person with a Rollins' attachment that I got was to pass the home of Fred Stone in Forrest Hills.

"Dickie" Dickson arrived in a few days for her last year at physical ed. school. Many pleasant evenings are spent at her apartment. Johnny Bostwick was not long in finding the "U Walk It" gathering place of congenial Rollins students and then one night Johnny gave a party. Well, that's over, for he left the bank to get along the best it could without him and went back to Jacksonville with wedding bells ringing, or, so he declared. Walking back to Fifth avenue one morning from Dickie's, I came face to face with Rose (Powers) Van Clive. She seemed astonished to see me strolling along alone and told me that she was interior decorating and having a lovely time. With husband "Van," they have a ducky apartment at University Place.

Then one day at the Astor hotel, there went striding past me in the most Manhattanized "man o' the world fashion," none other than Frank Abbot. Timidly I said "hello" and he also seemed surprised. Frank was waiting for Buddy and Velma Ebsen and said he had just spent the afternoon with Ben Pound. Buddy is in Eddie Cantor's "Whoopee" which closes the last of this month and goes to Boston. Velma's habitue' is Atlantic City.

Columbia University's Southern club dance was the next occasion on which I saw a former college acquaintance. By the way, I am almost afraid to confess that I went with a Stetson graduate, but then one has to be less critical up here. Along the stag line was Fred Barr, who confessed later to being a senior at the mighty institute. A steak supper (with onions) was held at Dickie's and Beatrice Jones found time off from her duties at McMillians to attend. Dropping in later was Sid Stoneburn who gave interesting sidelights on the New York situation. Not long ago Dickie saw Louise Ferguson and Carolyn Mitchell.

Calling on Mrs. Helen F. Ormiston at her 85th street apartment home, much news of Rollins and the K. A. boys was learned. "Pinky" Zoller is near and yet far, for he had just called on Mrs. Ormiston before we arrived. Perhaps we'll see him yet. While hieing myself across to

Rollins in the News of the Day

Public Speakers Magazine, May: President Holt's address, entitled "The Rollins Ideal," is used as a model speech in this magazine.

Journal-News, Ithaca, N. Y., August 9: Conclusion of an interview given by L. H. Jenks: "In another year, the first class to have spent its four years in the Rollins 'educational laboratory' will be graduated and doubtless, criticism, appreciatory and depreciatory, will be heard. Whatever the final decision may be in this case, it is at least noteworthy that America has men who are at once capable of discerning the shortcomings of current collegiate education, and courageous enough to risk reputation and wealth for the sake of improvement. If the Rollins College experiment is not worthy of emulation, assuredly it deserves our respect and careful consideration."

Tampa Times, (Editorial) August 22: "Up north when education in Florida is mentioned the first question of the natives is usually about Rollins College. It is the best known institution that Florida has. This is partly due to its famous president, Hamilton Holt; partly due to its unique and successful system of class conferences where students work out their own education and give their natural inclinations full vent. But more than all else is the aim of Rollins College, one that appeals to the hearts of Americans even in an age of cogs and machines.

"At Rollins the individual has his chance. It matters little whether he fits into any circle or not. There is no Rollins system to which everyone must bend the knee or else get out. Hamilton Holt cares more to see how each boy and girl will develop if let alone than to determine how much fodder can be fed to an educational machine. Freedom exudes from Rollins as soon as the portals to its campus are entered. Checks, restraints and laws are almost unknown. Result is a student body, satisfied and well-behaved.

"Our educational programs today rarely give any place to a college of this type. They talk almost exclusively of organization, method and control. They begin to classify a freshman before he gets off the train and fit him into a cubby hole before the first month is over. It

All Rollins people will be greatly interested in the stimulating article appearing in the December number of the Review of Reviews, Magazine comparing Rollins with an unnamed College. is, they tell us, the modern American trend. Probably they are right about that and yet when some college appears that caters to every individual and original trait that can be developed in a boy or a girl, the country gives respectful and interested attention. Dr. Holt is placing Florida on the map of national education.

"The Times congratulates Rollins on its leadership and its ideals. We see with extreme pleasure that another dormitory is opened this fall. We hope the school grows by leaps and bounds. Its educational aims will produce the kind of citizen that Florida needs."

The Southbridge (Mass.) News, September 4: The leading article on the front page discusses President Holt's address before the Rotary Club, explaining the Rollins Conference Plan of study.

The Congregationalist, September 5: Taken from an article entitled "Southern Fairmindedness" by Everett R. Clinchy covering two pages of the Congregationalist discussing the Religious Parley held at Rollins last spring.

"Two additional men whose personalities deeply impressed the conference were William Adams Brown and Hamilton Holt. Professor Brown, as presiding officer, integrated the sessions admirably, and was brilliantly helpful in assisting students to frame their questions coherently. And President Hamilton Holt—the dynamic mind at the center of that most worthwhile experiment in collegiate education, Rollins College was a benediction to the spirit of inquiry and truth-seeking that pervaded the campus. Rollins is intellectually alive and artistically creative to a degree that few American colleges are achieving."

According to the Morgantown, West Virginia "New Dominion" of October 1st, the American Association of University Women of that city is to study the Rollins Conference Plan in their program for this year.

New York Herald Tribune, October 20: "The influence of propaganda in forming public opinion and the extent to which it either could be, or should be controlled, are questions that will be studied by the second annual Institute of Statesmanship at Rollins College next January, it was announced today."

Orlando Sentinel, November: The following review of Professor Grover's latest anthology appeared as an editorial in the Sentinel:

"There is something in the unselfish and self-sacrificing love of a brute which goes directly to the heart of him who has had frequent occasion to test the paltry friendship and gossamer fidelity of mere man," wrote Edgar Allen Poe.

"Edwin Osgood Grover, Professor of Books, Rollins College, has used this quotation on the title page of his latest anthology, 'The Animal Lover's Knapsack'; a fit companion volume to 'The Nature Lover's Knapsack', and one that perhaps should have an even greater appeal, dealing as it does with life and unique as it is in anthologies.

"To all those who live life wherever they find it," Dr. Grover has dedicated his new book. No one to whom the brute world appeals in any part of it should overlook this volume. Parents should present the book to their children. It should find a place in every home library.

"Dr. Grover, when he began to gather poems for this Knapsack, found that the spirit of fellowship for all living things on the part of poets is nearly universal; and the available material was, therefore, rich and varied. But he chose with the skill of a master and the wisdom of a lover.

"In the Animal Lover's Knapsack, Edwin Osgood Grover has made an original and worthwhile contribution to the world of anthology; one which will be read and treasured by lovers of all life."

Continuing Intellectual Relations

By E. A. UPMEYER, JR., '29

HERE are signs that a new era is before the Alumni Public of America, portents that a new ideal is taking its place among the deeper purposes of the graduates of our colleges and universities, new hopes that education need not cease altogether at commencement. In greater numbers people are becoming interested in a continuing education, in an education that truly commences at commencement. An attitude of inquiry is becoming a more and more important part of the makings of the modern man and woman. An attitude of intellectual search and growth is more and more distinguishing the keener man, the man who is playing to win.

In a recent bulletin, "Adult Education and the Alumni," a committee of the American Alumni Council expresses interest in this subject and discusses its various angles in a profitable way. Its preamble says:

"Each and every individual whose name is signed to this memorandum believes—

"(1) that the college and university public in this country as represented by the inclusive term 'alumni' is an immense potential force which can and should be aligned behind and in support of the cause of education in general and the academic institutions of America in particular;

"(2) that for causes which are well known to us as to you, and as frankly recognized by us as by you, the interests of a heavy majority of these alumni in their respective institutions and in the cause of education has been neglected, warped, nullified or held dormant;

"(3) that there is recurring evidence to indicate a steadily growing realization on the part of college graduates that, up to the present, intellectual development is prone to stop on graduation;

"(4) that the alumni have demonstrated their ability to organize themselves and members of the non-collegiate public for any purpose that can be demonstrated as having a tinge of merit;

"(5) that the psychological time has arrived when plans should be made and actual attempts started to fit the alumni wherever possible and practical into the larger scheme of American higher education;

Editor's note: Mr. Upmeyer has agreed to discuss in this column from time to time the findings and problems affecting the continuing of intellectual relationships on the part of alumni with Rollins. Suggestions will be gladly received.—A. J. H.

"(6) that the determination of the form of such participation is primarily a job for 'education' in contrast to 'alumni', and that it is the job of the alumni to create and prepare a receptive public."

The body of the pamphlet is a discussion of these points. First, that the alumni group, having passed through the purely organization period comes to the realization that the group, now organized, must have a lasting purpose, a distant goal toward which they may direct their new found powers. Then, too, must come the realization that in the ever changing and growing nature of the alumni group lies the possibility of creating a receptive attitude toward the purposes of the alumni organized. That is, the possibility of preparing the undergraduates's point of view towards his or her future relation to the institution. The committee believes that the evident and increasing interest in adult education proves that there can be such a goal or purpose, and into the crystallization of that purpose the alumni officials can and will throw all their organizing experience.

"But here" they say, "we must stop. The administrations and faculties must recognize the demand of the adult public for the intellectual food which they look to the colleges and universities to supply." The writers of the statement suggest that in return for their support, moral and financial, the alumni may, and many now do, ask for the interest and aid of their Alma Mater in their intellectual pursuits. They summarize this feeling as follows:

"(1) We submit that there is a regular constructive task for the alumni to perform in the orderly support and development of our colleges and we believe they can aid those who have due authority and responsibility for that performance.

"(2) We feel certain that in our alumni constituencies at present there is a sizeable nucleus of men and women who would be immediately interested in a program of study for adults. With this group a start should be made at once.

"(3) We are confident that in our alumni constituencies there are at present many who need only guidance and suggestion to realize how helpful an adult education program would be. This section of the alumni population it would be our task to discover.

"(4) Heretofore, whatever close and continuous relationship has existed between the university and the alumni has been based upon two things. There are: First, intercollegiate athletics, the interest in which is partly the cause and partly the effect of direct stimulus and propaganda on the part of the athletic authorities in our universities; and second, the efforts of our educational institutions to raise money from the alumni, which, while not so thorough-going over a long period, has served to bring the alumni in close touch with the university during the period of the drive in question.

"(5) We sense the questioning spirit among the younger alumni and present undergraduates. With the latter we can, of course, do nothing, but we believe we can, with the help of a disinterested agency such as the American Association for Adult Education, call forcibly to the attention of college and university officials the desirability of turning out an alumni public whose interest in education and continuing education is real, and is not warped, neglected, nullified or held dormant.

"(6) We sense a growing sentiment that before long the alumni, fully appreciative of all that their Alma Maters have done for them and entirely willing to continue their support, will nevertheless seek from and ask of these same institutions help and guidance in a realization of fuller intellectual attainments after graduation. They will call upon the colleges and universities for this guidance first of all. They will do so insistently and expectantly. We, representing the alumni, foresee this and are getting our organization house in order. But we cannot and should not proceed alone. We need the help and cooperation and sympathy of the institutions and their faculties. It is something which they should foresee and be proud to meet."

FRESHMAN WEEK

Rollins was all ready for the freshmen as the freshmen soon discovered, with all the orientation practices born of the academic mind. It has been said that "Freshman Week" is devoted to turning over the freshman just as one does a grid-dle cake so that by the time the sophomores, juniors and seniors arrive, he is an entity which has body and toughness and has thus lost his fluid and plastic nature. At any rate there was carried through a program designed to show the incoming student just what a college course is good for, what it requires, how it is attained and above all how the Rollins Conference Plan operates. Evidently the freshmen liked the program for when the alumni gave their official welcomes there couldn't have appeared a better looking, better behaved or more intelligent appearing class. And don't forget those words, Class of 1933, when we ask you for the Rollins Loyalty Fund ten years hence!

While Winter Park has always enjoyed a high reputation it had not until the first part of this year sounded like heavenly Zion. Sweet were the strains of music that went up. The more vigorous angels behind the scenes who could not toll the church bells, beat the modern cymbals with good effect.

If the ghost of Sally Davis and the force of Postmaster Chubb had not previously realized it, that memorable night awakened the good townspeople to the fact that students from 27 different states, from ten foreign countries and from such way stations as Porto Rico and Hawaii had assembled on the shores of Lake Virginia for the 45th academic year and had right merrily gone about celebrating the first football victory since 1927.

FORMAL OPENING

At the formal opening exercises of the College the alumni were represented by Miss Clara Louise Guild, A. M., first graduate, and by Representative C. Fred Ward who warmly welcomed the student body back on behalf of the alumni. Others taking part were former President W. F. Blackman, Mrs. John T. Fuller, Dean W. S. Anderson, Mayors Cady of Winter Park, and Giles of Orlando, Senator F. O. King, Karl Lehmann, Dr. C. A. Vincent and Miss Gretchen Cox of the Rollins Conservatory who played a very beautiful number.

THE WINTER SCHOOL

Sir Herbert B. Ames, the distinguished international statesman and diplomat is the type of leader being attracted to Rollins for special conference groups during the winter quarter beginning January 6 and continuing through March. Sir Herbert will discuss international relations. Equally notable and inspiring educators will supplement the regular faculty. As a result the "Winter School" of Rollins is rapidly becoming as important and as helpful as the summer schools of the East. Features of the Winter School will be the Institute of Statesmanship in January, Founder's Week in February and the Religious Parley in March.

OTHER WELCOMING FUNCTIONS

Even before the Conference Plans get well into operation Rollins students ought to know each other fairly well. At least 12 receptions, open houses, and similar functions have been given by the town and churches, the Congregational church, the Episcopal church, Pi Beta Phi, Phi Mu, Gamma Phi Beta, Kappa Alpha, Kappa Epsilon, Lambda Phi, Chase Hall, the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A.

1930 REUNION FEBRUARY 22

When Rex Beach officially opens the annual reunion of old students on February 22, as one of the features of Founder's Week, Brothers and Sisters you want to be present. For in the meantime Frederick L. Lewton, as General Chairman of the 1930 Reunion and Lillian Wilmot Fishback, as chairman of the Social Committee of the Alumni Association, are making some wonderful plans for your entertainment. Don't forget that Feb. 22, Alumni Day, is your day at Rollins, when every thought is for former students — the day we shall do everything possible to entertain you.

Just to get ready for all the fun, let's sing the following which did not first appear in the Flamingo:

*Reunion year! Reunioniers
 Remobilize on campus greens
 To vent a few anemic cheers,
 Revivify forgotten years,
 And re-enact collegiate scenes.
 A few renew dear comradeship
 Where hand grips hand with tales
 . . . re-spun.
 A few retrace the lengthy trip
 They took away from scholarship.
 The rest of us have all the fun.*

*Reanimate, old memories
 Repeople dusty halls again
 For us who miss the mysteries—
 And great responsibilities—
 Endured by all reuning men and women.*

The Rollins Student Body

By WINSLOW S. ANDERSON, Dean

THE aid of the Alumni of Rollins in choosing the future graduates of the College is necessary to the continued progress of the institution. It is hoped that a knowledge of some of the statistical data concerning the student body of the College will be useful in interesting exceptional students to choose Rollins as their alma mater. With this in mind, some pertinent facts on the 1928-29 student body of Rollins were published in the March issue of the RECORD. Believing that the Alumni are interested in this information, we venture to submit some statistical material on the present student body of the College.

Last year more than sixty students from other institutions of higher learning transferred to Rollins. This year the number will be even larger, for at this early date over fifty students have left the institutions of their first choice to continue their studies here. Among the colleges and universities represented this year are the following:

Antioch College	1
Baika Woman's College (Japan)	1
Belhaven College	1
Birmingham-Southern College	1
Brown University	2
Cedarville College	1

The forty-fifth year of Rollins opened with the largest freshman class in the history of the College. At the opening of registration there were 113 freshmen but when registration closed the class had grown to 126. As in past years, the average age of the class is about nineteen years. This year, however, the average Rollins student is a bit younger than he was last year. The average Rollins undergraduate is now 20.54 years of age. The youngest student at Rollins is sixteen while the oldest is thirty-six. For the past thirty-five years the average age of the entering student at Rollins has been slightly over nineteen and the average age of the student body has been approximately twenty-one.

In the early days, Rollins received most of its students from Florida and the South, but today Rollins is a truly national institution. As in the past Florida has the largest representation in the student body, but this year sixty per cent of the students are from out of the State. As yet, no other state in the Union is a close competitor of Florida, and the preponderance of students come from the South. However, the number of students in the freshman class from the North Atlantic states is twice as many as last year.

Rollins has always had a cosmopolitan and democratic student body. It is neither a rich man's college nor a poor man's. The occupations of the fathers of the students give an indication of the general character of the student body. Something over forty different occupations were represented by the parents of the student body of 1928-29, while that of 1929-30 musters over sixty. Rollins is certainly a college which fosters no class distinctions and sets up no false social standards. Students and faculty form a large and happy family.

Even though Rollins is a private institution it is under the control of no one church but fosters a respect for the religion of the individual. Rollins is an undenominational college. The Congregational, Presbyterian, Methodist, Episcopalian and Baptist denominations have always been well represented at Rollins. There are more Episcopalians in the class of 1933 than in any other one class in the College. In other words, while other denominations have held their own there has been an increase in the number of Episcopalians. Not a single Rollins student labeled himself an atheist. Last year eighteen denominations were represented at Rollins and this year we have a like number.

Perhaps the publication of statistical data concerning the student body of Rollins College is not important but we trust that this information will serve to remind the Alumni that now is the time for them to be encouraging the high school boys and girls of their acquaintance to investigate the College. The selective admission of students which is used by Rollins contemplates the assistance of the Alumni in the choice of future Rollins graduates. You, as Alumni, are interested in your College. If you know of high school seniors whom you would be proud to call Rollins men and women we will be very glad to give you special blanks upon which to furnish us with information concerning them. Write to either the Alumni Office or the Dean of the College. The important thing is to head them toward Rollins.

Author's Note: The author wishes to acknowledge his thanks to Miss Mary Hall and Miss Cynthia Eastwood for their painstaking work in assembling the data used in this article.

WRITTEN on the eve of the annual football battle with the Southern College Moccasins, it's hard to see anything but "disastrous" as the fitting word for the Rollins varsity viewpoint of the season of 1929. One victory, one forfeit and four losses comprise the net result thus far with the campusites hoping the team will manage to click in the final effort and retrieve some of the lost prestige in the Southern game.

Beset by injury and ineligibility at every turn, Jack McDowell, who assumed the directorship of athletics this year has done the best he could with the varsity material. He won the opening game from the South Georgia Junior College and then the injury jinx along with a couple other "jinxes" camped on the Tar trail and to make a poor excuse of a pun—the jinx was up. So many players were on the list of injured that the college was forced to forfeit the scheduled game with the University of Chattanooga on November 2 and take a lengthy rest.

Reverses have been suffered at the hands of South Georgia A. & M., Stetson, the University of Miami and Mercer.

But one bright spot has stood out in a season full of gloom and student fault-finding. Where the varsity stumbled and fell before the onslaught of its opponents, the freshman team has written its name indelibly in the Florida sands as one of the outstanding aggregations in the Peninsula. With the varsity losing nine members through graduation this year, we "old timers" might find an excuse for the rose colored glasses to view the next season in the fact that the "Frosh" developed some mighty sweet players for graduation into the varsity ranks next fall.

A smashing, decisive and dope-upsetting victory over the touted Stetson Rats brought the freshman schedule to a climax. The anticlimax was participation in Florida's first night football game, when the Tar Babies pushed over Sanford High school in the Celery City, 33 to 0. There's a freshman here by the name of Rogers, they would call him "Will"! And so Will it is, that's about the "slickest" broken field runner we've seen in Winter Park since the Great War. And Will makes his broken field. Score one for McDowell's charges in 1930. There are a bunch of others, all good, that in our mind will have something to do with the changing of the order next season. And if it is within our province to have opinions, we think Coach Jack did exactly right in stressing the freshman angle in building his foundations for the future.

Our main hope is that Jack will stick it out through this year to reap some of the benefits of his start.

We've seen the star of Rollins rise and fall in the years following the disturbance overseas that ended some eleven years ago. And we're here going to delve into a little ancient history, just for fun, to see what sort of dope we can stir up. Correct us, if we're wrong!

They tell about the days of 1918, when most of the country was in uniform, there were only two boys in Rollins—(what a time they must have had!) Came 1919 and the boys piled back into school with thoughts of football, basketball, baseball in their heads. Well, to make a long story very, very short—there wasn't much of a football schedule, other teams were having the same sort of difficulties as Rollins, but the Tars went out and won the state championship in baseball. C. A. Boyer was coach of the teams that year but at the end the press of business demanded that he devote his entire time rather than give a portion to Rollins athletics. So W. D. Brewster came down from Middlebury in 1920 and laid the foundations for winning football, but he stayed just one year.

Ed Schlichter, All-American selection from Cornell drew the call in the fall of 1921, and his team lost but one game—the Florida. But Coach Schlichter left in the spring and Coach Ashburn was called from Texas. A complete varsity greeted him with new additions. Rollins lost to Florida but whipped everything else in the state, but Ashburn left in the spring. Johnny Wight came over from New Orleans the fall of 1923 and again had a hefty squad. Nine games were on the card. Rollins lost to Florida and Stetson but won from seven other teams, but Wight left in the spring, and in 1924 L. H. Duyck took over the reins. The team wasn't so hot that year and so Duyck didn't come back.

Howard P. Tallman came in the fall of '25, but was succeeded the next year by James L. Orr, who worked hard, but left in the spring.

In 1927, Sam Hill, product of Bob Zuppke's training came down and went to work, but Sam's team had hard luck and in the fall of 1928, Jim Bailey was at the helm. Jim left in the spring of '29 and this fall President Holt called Jack McDowell. Jack has his foundation and it remains for him to stick with the ship long enough to catch the team on the upturn, for that upturn is bound to come and if we aren't sadly mistaken we've seen signs already. Enough.

Sanford Herald, Nov. 5: (AP)—"Bill Rogers, mite quarterback of the Rollins college freshmen ran amuck here tonight to score three touchdowns and materially aid in the fourth, as the Tar Babies beat Sanford High 33 to 0 in what is believed to be the first night football game ever played in Florida. A crowd of 2,500 viewed the battle.

"Sanford never got out of its own territory. Rogers sprinted sixty yards for one touchdown and made another run of thirty yards."

ALUMNAE-FRESHMEN TEA

As the concluding feature of Freshman Week a tea was given by the alumnae at the lovely home of Miss Mabelle O'Neal in Orlando in honor of the girls of the Class of '33. Plans for the tea were in charge of Mrs. Davis E. Fishback, chairman of the social committee of the Rollins Alumni Association.

Guests were received at the door by Mrs. B. M. Robinson and Miss Margaret McKay, and receiving in the living room with Miss O'Neal were Mrs. F. Grey Rush, Mrs. Davis Fishback and Miss Clara Louise Guild.

Assisting in receiving were Mrs. W. F. Blackman, Mrs. John T. Fuller, Mrs. W. W. Yothers, Mrs. William M. Glenn, Mrs. Donald A. Cheney and Mrs. R. B. Brossier.

In the dining room a pink and green color motif was carried out both in the decorations and ice course. The table was covered with a lovely lace cloth and centered with a large bowl of pink roses and hydrangea blossoms. Clusters of hydrangea blossoms tied with large bows of a matching shade of tulle lay around the bowl, and tall pink tapers in crystal holders gave an added touch of color.

Assisting in serving were Miss Mary Hall, Miss Phyllis Walter, Miss Isabel Green, Mrs. H. K. Kelly, Mrs. Sidney Carlson, Miss Julia Faris, Miss Ruth Richey and Miss Tillie Moyer.

During the afternoon a delightful musical program was given by Miss Gretchen Cox, violinist, accompanied by Miss Emelie Sellers, both of the Rollins conservatory.

ALUMNI-FRESHMAN SMOKER

The alumni-freshman smoker was held at the Fraternity Club in Orlando the evening of October 4.

General arrangements were in charge of Chauncey Boyer of Orlando. The program included talks by Walter Schultz for the Winter Park Alumni; Arthur Landstreet for the Orlando alumni; J. Harold Hill on "Historical Sketch of Rollins"; Carter Bradford on "Purposes of the Rollins College Alumni Association"; A. Maxwell Sloan on "The Old Rollins Spirit"; and President Hamilton Holt on "Prophecy for the Alumni."

The Rollins Dixie Rogues furnished a program of orchestral numbers.

You are invited to listen in each Wednesday night to the Rollins program broadcast over WDBO, Orlando, Fla. Rollins goes on the air each Wednesday at 9 o'clock Eastern Standard time. The programs are varied and interesting. You will enjoy them we are sure and they will bring you back in touch with campus life.

The Rollins College Tuesday evening lecture course was very auspiciously opened on November 12th with a concert by the Rollins Conservatory of Music. As was the case last year these programs are given each Tuesday evening at eight o'clock free to the public. Many outstanding speakers are scheduled for the coming season. Those alumni who are close enough to Rollins to motor over for the evening's entertainment are cordially invited to attend.

The Transportation Committee in charge of carrying the guests from the college to the club included James Foley, Carter Bradford, Sidney Carlson, Leland Chubb, Girard Denning, Rex Holiday, W. M. Ingram, K. C. Warner, Fleetwood Peoples, Walter Schultz, J. Harold Hill, A. Maxwell Sloan, Frederic H. Ward and Albra Whitmore.

AMONG THE GREEK LETTER

THE installation of the Alpha Omega Chapter of Phi Mu and the Florida Gamma Chapter of Pi Beta Phi were events of considerable importance connected with the opening of College. Alumnae initiated into the Alpha Omega chapter of Phi Mu were: Virginia Lawrence, Orlando, Fla.; Viola Wilson, Orlando, Fla.; Phyllis Walter, Orlando, Fla.; Beryl Bowman, New Smyrna, Fla.; Katharine Young, Oviedo, Fla.; Betty Wheatley Johnson, Winter Park, Fla., Alumna pledge, Thirza Fluno, Winter Park, Fla.

Alumnae initiated into the Florida Gamma Chapter of Pi Beta Phi were: Louise Holland, Bartow, Fla.; Isabel Green, Winter Park, Fla.; Ammabeth Wilson, Jacksonville, Fla.; Mrs. Myron A. Pickens, (Fannie Mae Barnes,) Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.; Mrs. A. F. Martin, Jr., (Eleanora Holton), Greenville, S. C.; Mrs. Maxwell A. Sloan (Katherine Barnes), Winter Park, Fla.; Mrs. Sidney Carlson (Martha Wiloman), Winter Park, Fla.; Margaret White, Mt. Dora, Fla.; Mary Hall, Winter Park, Fla.

"ENRICH YOUR HOLIDAY HAPPINESS"

We mean just that—and if you take the hint, and act accordingly, the Alumni office will be given that much more opportunity to be of service to you and all former students. It's a long way to $6,000 by December 30. What say?

MR. LAWTON, FINANCIER

In the last number of the Rollins Alumni Record we gave you to understand that, "Willie" Lawton was an educator. He was and is. But he is more. Although a life member of the Alumni Association by payment of a heavy fee sometime ago he has become Chairman of the 1929 Rollins Loyalty Fund to help us pay this year's expenses. When we reach that necessary goal of $6,000 by December 31, Mr. Lawton will be a financier. Won't you do your part to give him that distinction?

Morningside for dinner one night, I was accosted while crossing a street with "Why, if that isn't....." Naturally I halted to see who should speak in such a tone of familiarity. There stood Althea Miller and Lillian Bell. Althea lives in Brooklyn, I had forgotten, and she was showing Lillian the sights, before the latter started on to Orlando. They had just eaten at the little sunken "beanery" which many snoopy collegians find. Althea having profited by her experience of spending the past summer at Columbia.

The Yale-Army football game at New Haven was witnessed with Leonard Seaver, who came over from Waterbury. It was great fun to go over the Yale campus remembering that President Holt had once been a student there. Back in New York we saw Bob Colville of course and there was another Rollins reunion. Oh! there are many more Rollins folks here, but as I haven't seen them yet and do not have any more time I'll be off to class.

CLASS OF 1890

Fortieth Reunion in 1930
Secretary, Clara Louise Guild, Winter Park, Fla.

Clara Louise Guild has been elected an alumnae member of the Lambda Phi Sorority.

CLASS OF 1896

Thirty-seventh Reunion in 1933
Secretary, Fritz J. Frank, 239 West 39th St., New York City

Mrs. Fritz J. Frank has recently presented the Kappa Alpha Fraternity with a valuable etching entitled "Vive l'Empereur," which vividly depicts that part of the Battle of Waterloo which the Duke of Wellington declared to be the most stirring part. The central figure is Marshall Ney.

Mr. Frank started the Kappa Alpha art collection several years ago by presenting a beautiful oil painting, the work of Frank French, entitled "Azalea Garden."

Flora A. Walker is a recent contributor to the ROLLINS LOYALTY FUND. She writes that she has a new Willys-Knight which she has learned to run and which enabled her to see many beautiful points of interest in the state of Washington during the past summer. Among them beautiful Lake Crescent on the Olympic Peninsula, the Pacific Ocean at LaPush and Hoods Canal.

CLASS OF 1897

Thirty-sixth Reunion in 1933
Secretary, Fred P. Ensminger, Demorest, Ga.

Mrs. D. B. Atkinson (Ruth Ford) recently began her tenth year as Mathematics professor and Dean of Women at Palmer College, Albany, Mo. Last June her husband was elected President of Palmer after serving as Dean for eight years.

President and Mrs. Atkinson have three children, Mignon Ford Atkinson, aged 24, Marcia Margaret, age 23 and Josephine, age 18. Dr. and Mrs. Atkinson attended a convention at Pigna, Ohio the first of November, driving over in their new Auburn car. The convention was for the purpose of completing plans for the merging of the Congregational and Christian Churches.

Mrs. Atkinson writes that Armistice Day was Governor's Day in Albany and she had the honor of making the speech at the ladies' luncheon for the Governor's wife. They won their football game in the afternoon 6-14 which made a perfect ending to a perfect day.

Fred Ensminger attended the meeting of the Sessions which was held in the old historic Circular Congregational Church of Charleston, South Carolina, on November 6-8.

F. Stuart Crawford, former secretary to President Coolidge and now political writer for the New York Herald Tribune has been invited to speak at the Second Annual Institute of Staetismanship to be held at Rollins January 6-11.

CLASS OF 1899

Thirty-fourth Reunion in 1933
Secretary, Susan T. Gladwin, Hawthorne, Fla.

Mrs. E. B. Hudson (Gertrude Ford) has recently sent in some interesting historical data to Rollins College. She was a member of the "Friends in Council." She and Mr. Hudson have three boys, Howard 17, William 15, and James 9. In addition to her household duties, Mrs. Hudson finds time to teach in the Lucy Cobb Institute of Athens, Georgia, and engages in orchestral work with the boys and girls in her Sunday School which numbers about 900.

CLASS OF 1900

Thirty-second Reunion in 1932
Secretary, J. Harold Dale, Billerica, Mass.

Mr. Norman L. Baker accompanied Mrs. Baker and his daughter Florence, when they came to Winter Park. Florence is a freshman in college this fall.

The Rev. J. Harold Dale recently celebrated his twenty-fifth year as pastor of the Congregational Church of Billerica, Mass. The installing sermon was delivered by Dr. George Morgan Ward, President Emeritus.

CLASS OF 1901

Thirty-second Reunion in 1931
Secretary, Rev. Wood R. Stewart, St. Martin-in-the-Fields, Philadelphia, Pa.

J. Hubert Ford is manager of the Queen City Drug Store, of Gainesville, Georgia. After leaving Rollins College, he was graduated from Piedmont College and the University of Georgia. He and Mrs. Ford, who was Miss Sara Grant of Demorest, Georgia, have one son, Grant, who is just entering high school.

George Morgan King made a visit to France last fall with General Edwards and a number of the Yankee Division men to dedicate a Chapel erected as a memorial to the men of that Division who died in the World War. He is returning in December.

William Gardner Armstrong who was during his under-graduate days captain of the baseball team and business manager of the Sandspur, is spending several weeks in Winter Park. He and Mrs. Armstrong came down from their home in New York recently to visit their daughter, Betty, who is a member of the Class of 1933. Mr. Armstrong is Vice-President of a large Real Estate concern in New York.

CLASS OF 1902

Thirtieth Reunion in 1932
Secretary, Fannie Hinkel Smith (Mrs. W. B.), Demorest, Ga.

Riley M. Fletcher Berry of Sanford, author of the recipe books issued by the Florida Citrus Exchange, sometime ago wrote a poem entitled Tommie and His Tummie, designed to encourage the use of oranges:

There was pain in Tommie's tummie:
An awful, awful ache
That made him yell in Dreamland
And painfully to wake.

"Go, Daddie," cried his mother,
then,

"Phone good old Doctor Jake
To hurry up and come at once.
Be quick, for goodness sake."

The doctor came and questions asked
And felt Tom's pulse. "No fake.
He's sick all right, and now he'll have

Some nasty stuff to take.

"He needs some oranges, this boy,
Not candy, nuts and cake.
Cut these all out and give him fruit;
A difference it will make."

Tom took this wise prescription
Of good old Doctor Jake.
And every day it's oranges,
Instead of candy—cake,

He eats. So now he's well and strong;

No more his parents wake
To hear him yell and have to send
For good old Doctor Jake.

RILEY M. FLETCHER BERRY

1903

Secretary, T. W. Lawton, Sanford, Fla.

Luella Saxton Campbell (Mrs. C. D.) of Athens, Georgia, is the mother of three sons and one daughter. Her eldest son, David, is working with the Nestle Company of New York as civil engineer. Her second son, Donald, is a senior at the University of Georgia and her third son, Richard, is in high school. Miriam is a student in the Junior high school.

Franklin Ward Gaylord, son of Emma N. Gaylord, was an honor student at the University of Florida last spring. Herbert Russell received a rank of second in the Freshman Class of the College of Engineering and Architecture at the University of Florida. Mrs. Gaylord's daughter, Nathalie Ruth, is in training at the Municipal Hospital of Tampa, Stanley Hampton, her youngest son, passed 100% on his navy examination and is now in the service.

CLASS OF 1904

Twenty-seventh Reunion in 1931
Secretary, Mary Hardaway Algee (Mrs. L. C.),
Box 1065, Orlando, Fla.

Although Mary Hardaway Algee is the secretary of this class, the editor has taken the privilege of inserting this note which would otherwise not have been included.

In answer to a recent inquiry regarding her status of mind and imagination, we find she has a new complex in flying, possesses a new refrigerator, and that her son, Stanton, is in the University of Florida. Shame on you Mary. Why didn't you send him to a good school?

She is also Associate Director of Publicity for the Florida Branch of National Congress of Parents and Teachers, and Exchange Publicity Chairman for Florida in same.

CLASS OF 1905

Twenty-fifth Reunion in 1930
Secretary, Ada Bumby Yothers (Mrs. W. W.), 251 S. Orange Ave., Orlando, Fla.

Friends of Mrs. W. W. Yothers (Ada Bumby) of Orlando, will be interested to know that Mr. Yothers has been sent by the government to Hawaii to make a study of the Mediterranean fly. Mr. Yothers has for many years been the government entomologist at Orlando and has been very active in studying this fruit pest during the recent activities in the Orlando section.

CLASS OF 1906

Twenty-fifth Reunion in 1931
Secretary, Carrie Ensminger Nickel (Mrs. H.), Sanford, Fla.

Fred Vanderpool has just completed a new home on Hibiscus Island on Biscayne Bay at Miami Beach. His location fronts 190 feet on the bay and runs back 175 feet. It is understood that this new home has occasioned the expenditure of $40,000, and includes a big dock with provision for swimming, diving and boating complete.

Since his rowing experience at Rollins, Mr. Vanderpool has always derived great pleasure out of water sports and goes in for deep sea fishing most every week. Since his boat can be kept in front of his home this does not force much new activity upon him.

Mrs. LeRoy Giles (Nell Broward) recently returned to her home in Orlando after spending the summer in Europe.

CLASS OF 1907

Twenty-fourth Reunion in 1931
Secretary, Berkeley Blackman, 839 Commerce
St., Miami Beach, Fla.

Donald A. Cheney has been appointed Superintendent of the Department of Public Play Grounds and Recreation for the City of Orlando. He is also Judge of the Juvenile Court of Orange County.

From the Cornell Alumni News of October 3, 1929: "The Rollins Alumni Record for December contained a sketch of Elizabeth Donnan, '07, formerly dean of women at Rollins, now head professor of economics at Wellesley."

Mrs. Davis E. Fishback (Lillian Wilmot) who, as chairman of the Social Committee of the Alumni Association was in charge of the Alumnae-Freshman Tea during Freshman week and will be in charge of the Reunion.

CLASS OF 1908

Twenty-second Reunion in 1930
Secretary, Leon B. Fort, 604 S. Cherokee Drive, Orlando, Fla.

Mrs. W. C. Essington (Shirley McCarthy) returned with Mr. Essington on the French liner, Ile de France, the latter part of October, after a summer spent in Europe.

Leon B. Fort accompanied by Mrs. Fort spent two weeks touring Maine and Canada during the late summer. In Canada they visited in Easton, Fredericksburg, St. John's and Calais in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia provinces. They returned by way of the White Mountains. Before returning to Florida Mr. Fort spent a few days in New York City.

CLASS OF 1909

Twenty-first Reunion in 1930
Secretary, Arthur L. Slater, St. Augustine, Fla.

Dr. James B. Parramore attended the meeting of the Southern Medical Association in Miami the latter part of November and then took Mrs. Parramore over to Cuba for a short visit.

CLASS OF 1910

Twentieth Reunion in 1930
Secretary, Marguerite Doggett, Clemson College, S. C.

Worthington, "Win," Blackman was a visitor at the Alumni Office early in September. He has charge of U. S. immigration for the South and lives at 1328 N. 24th Street, Birmingham, Ala. He also visited his mother and father, Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Blackman, the early part of November.

Wilbur Cleveland of Johnson City, Tennessee, who made a brief tour of Florida during the latter part of September, spent several hours visiting the campus.

"Enrich your holiday happiness, by giving to the Rollins Loyalty Fund."

CLASS OF 1911

Nineteenth Reunion in 1930
Secretary, Mary G. Branham, 126 Lucerne Circle, Orlando, Fla.

Mary L. Branham spent a part of the early fall in the mountains of North Carolina.

Raymond O. and Eva C. (McQuarters) Ward give us the following:

"We hope the present husband and wife arrangement will serve so long as we both shall live. The baby isn't new any more—a 2½ year old model—but we find she still furnishes sufficient entertainment for a normal family and she already looks forward to seeing the name of Elizabeth Ann Ward on the list of Rollins students about 1946. The home is built in a lovely spot on a lovely Florida lake and is of such dependable construction it will last a hundred years so we couldn't even wish for a newer one. No hope of a new car though we long for a Ford for its modest appetite. Present complex—a Scott radio, the world's record holder. No honors except a share in those accorded by the human race to all her honest, hard-working sons and daughters."

The St. Louis County Leader of October 4 has the following notice which will interest all Rollins people:

"Rev. Dr. Dwight Bradley, pastor of the First Congregational Church of Webster Groves, has accepted a call from Boston, Mass., to be effective January 1st. The First Church of Newton, Mass., to which Dr. Bradley is going, is one of the oldest on the American continent and one of the original churches. It was founded in 1664.

"The church has no denominational name in its title. In the 265 years of its life it has had but ten pastors. Dr. Bradley is to succeed Dr. Edw. A. Noyes, who will retire after a ministry of thirty-five years. The church has 900 members.

"In Webster Groves, Dr. Bradley has become especially well known for his 'book sermons,' which he has given every Sunday night, eight months in the year, for the last six years.

"Dr. Bradley's recent book, 'The Recovery of Religion,' is just from the press.

"Under Dr. Bradley the First Congregational Church of Webster has reconstructed its house of worship and rebuilt the main auditorium, these improvements costing about $130,000. The project of a new parish house is now under way, and, as it was commenced before he received the call, Dr. Bradley has planned to remain with the congregation until the building shall have been completed, which will be by the end of the year.

"Dr. Bradley has been pastor at Webster Groves for the last ten years."

CLASS OF 1912

Twenty-second Reunion in 1934
Secretary, C. A. Boyer, 525 East Central Ave., Orlando, Fla.

C. A. Boyer, State Attorney for the 17th Judicial District, has been assigned by Governor Carlton to officiate in court at Titusville.

CLASS OF 1913

Twenty-first Reunion in 1934
Secretary, Harry A. Nickerson, 86 Lyndhurst Ave., Dorchester, Mass.

We are quite proud of the Class of '13. Secretary Harry Nickerson started some time ago a round robin and it has reached each graduate member of the class with the exception of one lost address, which has recently been found, and has come to the Alumni office. Here are some bits of news from it:

Conrad Bucher writes that he is acting as general agent for a line from New York to Cuban and Jamaican ports. They have spent one vacation up in the mountains of Jamaica and get up to Florida once in a while. Better make a trip in February, about the 22nd, Conrad.

Emma Jane Tallant writes that she is now employed in a store in Mt. Dora and as a side line she is "treasurer of the W. C. T. U., secretary of the King's Daughters, superintendent of the Intermediate Christian Endeavorers, teach a Sunday School class of boys and girls 7 to 10 years old, write our Church notices for the local paper, act as pianist at S. S. and C. E. when necessary and have even been known to sit in the church choir when they were desperately hard up for weights to keep the chairs from dancing around during the service."

Dyke Wetherill was married last September. He is employed with the Acacia Mutual Life Association at their offices in Cleveland. Mr. Wetherill accepted this position on his release from the Navy, where he was a commanding officer of one of the submarine chasers, in April, 1920. His diversion has been largely music and he has done some broadcasting. The Wetherill address is 16710 Hilliard Road, Lakewood, Ohio.

Harry Nickerson urges his classmates to prove their loyalty to Rollins by sending good high school graduates from their various home towns to Rollins and by supporting President Holt's plans. He also gives interesting bits of information concerning Mrs. Nickerson, Shirley, age 3 and Jean Elaine, born April 2, 1929, his hobby seems to be tennis and radio.

Flora Louise Nickerson (Mrs. A. E.), who while winter resorting at Winter Park in 1913 attended Rollins classes in metal and jewelry working, is spending the winter at the Sherwood Hotel, Portland, Me. She writes that both she and Mr. Nickerson are well and look back with pleasure on their stay at Winter Park.

Dean Pike writes that he and Mabel Allen Pike like Richmond very much. His job "is to appoint, advise and assist dealers who sell Chrysler automobiles. My territory is too big, I do not have time to enjoy the abundance of hunting and fishing that is available to the man of leisure." Their home is 3620 Grove Avenue and they have two children, Dean Sherman, Jr., age 9, and Alden K., age 5.

Mabel Daniels writes of an interesting trip she recently took to one of the most famous shrines of all Japan, where the sacred mirror, an Imperial treasure, handed down from the heavenly progenitress of the race in prehistoric times is kept. She says in order to avoid the least speck of rot in the buildings that house the sacred treasure, the entire group is reconstructed on an adjoining site every twenty years. The architectural design is copied very carefully each time and the task ceremonially purified.

CLASS OF 1914

Twentieth Reunion in 1934
Secretary, Kathleen Hill Bucher (Mrs. G. C.), Apartado 470, Santiago, Cuba

From Charles A. Noone comes the following news note: "Same wife. Youngest child thirteen. Same home and address, 842 Fort Wood Place, Chattanooga, Tennessee. Unfortunately we have to keep abreast of 'the Joneses' with automobiles and they wear out. This year happened to be the wear out year and in view of the fact that Jessie Work walked so much while she was in Rollins she has been trying for the last few years to catch up with riding, necessitating a good car for her and a cheap one for myself. Same profession. There have been many new complexes, but the outstanding one which I may publicly repeat is golf. As to honors, there has been nothing old or new."

And from Jessie Work Noone: "Same husband that I picked up at Rollins a little better than nineteen years ago. The youngest child is Margaret Varney Noone, age thirteen and in all probability she will remain the youngest. Same old home but have prospects. As to the automobile I admit walking a lot in Winter Park and elsewhere but I walked a lot while "Doc" rode so I am entitled to the better automobile. The same old position, running a home. Confidentially my new complex is golf. I listened to Doc and his friends talk about it so much that I thought there might be something in it and about two months ago took it up as a pastime but I am seriously considering golf as a position and the operation of a home only secondary. Nothing new by way of honors."

CLASS OF 1915

Eighteenth Reunion in 1933
Secretary, Anne Bellows, 20 East 8th Street,
Cincinnati, Ohio

Robert J. Black is in Richmond, Virginia, where he has been Minister of Education at the Grace Covenant Presbyterian Church for over a year. He went to Richmond from Boston. This Church is one of the largest in its denomination in the South. Mr. Black sent a greeting to the Rollins Club dinner recently held in Boston.

CLASS OF 1916

Seventeenth Reunion in 1933
Secretary, Mrs. Geraldine Clark Harris,
Winter Haven, Fla.

Thomas D. Phillips, who is Assistant Professor of Physics in Marietta College, where General Dawes was graduated, is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and although he studied at Oberlin, University of Michigan and New York University, he calls Rollins his "best-loved alma mater."

Mrs. Phillips occasionally writes juvenile stories for "Child Life."

CLASS OF 1917

Sixteenth Reunion in 1933
Secretary, A. J. Hanna, Winter Park, Fla.

George B. Roberts, son of L. H. Roberts of Winter Park, former baseball star of Rollins, conducts his own real estate business in White Plains, New York.

CLASS OF 1918

Fifteenth Reunion in 1933
Secretary, Sara E. Muriel, 2110 Royal Palm
Ave., Ft. Myers, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Foley motored down from New York the first of November, after having spent their honeymoon in Europe. They have taken the Max Sloan cottage for the coming season. Mr. Foley is manager and part owner of the Seminole Hotel.

Sara Yancey Royter who teaches English in the Yonkers High School passed four graduate library courses at the Columbia University Library School last summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence G. Tilden (Irene Thoren) spent six weeks last summer visiting Mr. and Mrs. Paul Thoren in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Thompson (Idabel Edwards) have announced the birth of a son, James Francis Thompson. This is their second child.

Richard G. Darrow is the author of an article entitled "The Accountant as Receiver in State Chancery Courts" in the September number of "The Certified Public Accountant," the official organ of the American Society of Certified Public Accountants. Following Dick's name are some initials as impressive as is the title of his article. They are: "LL. B., C.P.A."

Dick is now living in Nogalez, Arizona.

Erwin L. Holmes of Cleveland is expecting to visit Winter Park this season. He has recently disposed of his printing business in Cleveland.

CLASS OF 1919

Thirteenth Reunion in 1933
Secretary, Florence Stone, 630 West 168th
Street, New York City

Mrs. Edgar K. Brockway in a facetious moment said at the Rollins Club of Boston dinner that at Rollins she "took"—jewelry, music and Gerald! Her 26 months old daughter now gives her a more serious occupation.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Cameron MacCardell, (Tiny Hanchett) are living at 174 Sessions St., Providence, R. I., where their eight-months old son keeps the spare hours occupied.

Celia Salomon, who spent the summer with her parents in Orlando, has returned to New York.

CLASS OF 1921

Eleventh Reunion in 1932
Secretary, Elizabeth Meriwether, Ft. Snelling, Minn.

Harold Tilden is connected with a packing house in Haines City, Fla.

Frederic Ward can always be found busily engaged about the campus of Rollins. Being Assistant Treasurer, on the beautification committee and the athletic committee, Fred keeps quite busy.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Galt are announcing the birth of a daughter on October 28th at their home in Macon, Ga., Mr. Galt is City Bacteriologist at Macon. The daughter has been named Alice.

CLASS OF 1922

Tenth Reunion in 1932
Secretary, Warren Ingram, Winter Park, Fla.

Donald I. Knowles is connected with the International Mercantile Marine Company in New York City and has charge of Passenger Tourists on four ships to Liverpool, England. His friends will recall that Don was married on October 18, 1928, to Miss Cornelia Mitchell. Their home is 24 Rochelle Terrace, Mt. Vernon.

Evelyn Haynes has become the Industrial Secretary of the Central Branch of the Young Women's Christian Association, according to the New York Journal of October 25th. She was recently in charge of a party for industrial girls at the branch. She has been doing welfare work in mill villages at Gastonia, Durham and Charlotte, N. C., and for the past three summers has conducted a camp for business women near Asheville.

CLASS OF 1923

Eighth Reunion in 1931
Secretary, Mrs. B. Fishback, Orlando, Fla.

Phillip Trowbridge who lives at 1421 S. Jennings Avenue, Fort Worth, Texas, spent two weeks last summer at Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio in the annual two weeks encampment where he was a reserve officer.

Hazel Maurer is a member of the Music faculty of Eureka College, Eureka, Illinois. During the summer she was connected with Bryn Mawr.

Frank "Red" Palmer spent a few days during October with his parents at Eustis, Florida. Red found time to attend the Stetson game while in Florida and renewed many old friendships.

CLASS OF 1924

Seventh Reunion in 1931
Secretary, Margaret McKay, Rollins College,
Winter Park, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Lloyd (Eva Jones) have announced the birth of a daughter, Donna. They live in Cleveland.

"Enrich your holiday happiness, by giving to the Rollins Loyalty Fund."

Ruth Scudder has been appointed head Librarian of the Public Library in Farmington, Conn.

CLASS OF 1925

Sixth Reunion in 1931
Secretary, Douglass W. Potter, Kentucky Title Co., Louisville, Ky.

Cecil Draa, better known on the Rollins campus as "Sapp," made his reappearance in the state for a short time this summer, deigning to remain for somewhat less than a week and then returning to Chicago where he will continue his studies in surgery and medicine this winter.

A much deserved promotion which brings new credit to Rollins College is told in the following article clipped from the Louisville Courier-Journal of September 19:

"Douglas W. Potter, formerly manager of the title department of the Kentucky Title Company, has been appointed vice-president of that company and assistant vice-president of the Kentucky Title Trust Company, it was announced Wednesday by Embury L. Swearingen, chairman of the board of the First National Bank group of Institutions. Watson B. McFerran was appointed to the position formerly held by Mr. Potter."

M. W. McRoberts, who spent the summer in Europe, has returned to the University of Georgia where he is an instructor in English. By way of diversion he plays golf, and is planning to spend the Christmas holidays in Winter Park. Next year he will either be at the University of Georgia or in Europe, working for his Doctor's degree. He still is in possession of the famous old Dodge wreck.

Robert Chandler, who with his bride spent a part of his honeymoon in Winter Park the latter part of September, flew from Miami to Porto Rico via Santiago de Cuba, where he is in business. While in Winter Park Mr. and Mrs. Chandler were entertained by President Holt and by Theta Kappa Nu.

From Eleanor Sprague comes the following message: "Sorry—no new wife, husband or baby. Automobile is six years old, position two, complex too changeable to record and honors in the work-a-day world are always scarce."

"However, with feeding my family of 250 three meals a day, being on the Executive board and chairman of the Membership Committee of the Massachusetts Dietetic Association, a course in German and another in horseback riding with some swimming thrown in here and there, I notice Father Time hasn't been sitting on the doorstep with his pipe much of late."

Ensign and Mrs. Hamilton Howe (Peggy Backus) are on their way to China on the U. S. S. Lexington.

Rebecca Caldwell, secretary of the Rollins Club of the Orient, radioed the following message for the opening of the new year:

"Best wishes to the faculty and student body. May this be a very successful year. Congratulations upon your new building program."

Priscilla Toomer is spending the winter in North Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred A. Stuart, Jr., were the guests of "Red's" parents in Winter Park this fall while on their vacation. They have returned to their home in New York.

CLASS OF 1926

Fifth Reunion in 1931
Secretary, John Scott, Loray, N. C.

Clarence "Blinker" Draa has resumed the important role of assistant to the superintendent of the public schools of Brevard county, this winter. Mr. and Mrs. Draa, nee Miss Barbara Floyd, and their young son spent several of the summer months at "Bobbie's" home in Boston. Blinker was seen among the Rollins rooters at the Stetson game in DeLand last October.

Beryl Bowman is now making her home in New Smyrna where she has been engaged for her second year's work in the elementary schools of that city.

Misses Catherine and Maxine "Fo' Bits" Young are located in the Sanford schools this winter.

Miss Mildred Edwards, transfer senior 1925 and '26 arrived the first of September at Jacksonville, coming from New York where she has been the past two years studying and actually doing library work. She is located at the Colonial club, just around the corner from Annabeth Wilson and is in charge of the juvenile department of the Jacksonville public libraries. That means a visit now and then to Rollins.

Ann Louise Kerr of Aurora, Indiana, is teaching in the high school of her home town. Last summer she studied at Columbia University, taking work for her Master's degree.

Annabeth Wilson is spending the winter in Ithaca, N. Y., where she has a position at Cornell. She was down for the Pi Beta Phi installation at which time she became an alumna member of the Florida Gamma Chapter just installed at Rollins. She is living at 129 College Avenue and is with Margery Ufford.

Virginia Lee Richardson of Winter Park made an extensive tour of the west last summer with her father, visiting Yellowstone Park and California. While west she was a delegate from Theta chapter at Rollins to the national conference of Phi Beta sorority.

Ray More writes, "I have a new wife, and am of course happy, having a new car in order to see all the major football games in the vicinity of New York. Notre Dame sank the Navy in our presence along with that of eighty thousand others, including Alan Hoover. Robert Colville and "Spic" Arroyo are seen often. Hope to drive to Harvard to see Florida beat them. Also see Yale and Princeton each year."

"We live in the same apartment building as Robert Colville does, 472 Gramatan Avenue, Fleetwood, N. Y., and as there is a nice clay court at the apartment we have few idle moments."

"I have a new job (eighteen months old) as a furniture salesman for a high price firm in the city."

"Neglected to state that my car is not a Cadillac but a Chevrolet Coach with ONE horn which seems to be enough."

Mr. and Mrs. Carlus Howard Griffin (Martica Saunders) announced the birth of Master Tenney Saunders Griffin on the 12th of August.

Lawrence Roberts, son of L. H. Roberts of Winter Park, is a salesman for the Auto-Strop Company in Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Joe Roberts, son of L. H. Roberts of Winter Park, has a grove in Volusia County near Orange City. During the past summer he has been in Baltimore, Md.

CLASS OF 1927

Eighth Reunion in 1935
Secretary, Katherine Lewis, Winter Park, Fla.

Mildred Cook (Mrs. Donald Flower), is now living at 20 North Cherry St., Troy, Ohio. She has one daughter, Dorothy Mildred now two years old.

Mrs. Raymond W. Greene, (Billy Freeman), has recently returned to Winter Park with her two daughters. Billy and Ray spent the summer at Buck Hills Falls, Pa.

Helene Luttman who lives at 318 West 56th Street, New York City,

"Enrich your holiday happiness, by giving to the Rollins Loyalty Fund."

is assisting President Holt at the New York headquarters of the Endowment movement.

Eugenia Tuttle suffered the loss of her mother early in September. She has the deepest sympathy of all Rollins.

A. B. Anderson represented Rollins College recently at the Centennial Celebration of the founding of Illinois College at Jacksonville, Ill.

Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, Honorary, recently entertained at dinner in the Pan-American room of the Mayflower.

Hardin Branch of Tampa, has begun the study of medicine at Tulane University.

William (Bozo) LoFroos, former captain of the Rollins Tars, who attended Carnegie Tech after leaving Rollins, recently attended his fraternity convention at Cornell. While in that section of the country he found opportunity to visit George Bowers.

Charles Roberts, son of L. H. Roberts of Winter Park, who runs his uncle's grove in Gotha, recently lost his house by fire. Unfortunately nothing was saved.

Kenelm Winslow has recently opened the "Book Nook" at 484 North Orange Avenue in Orlando. Ken is making a special feature of books by Rollins authors and invites all Rollins friends to come in and enjoy the "Book Nook" with him.

CLASS OF 1928

Second Reunion in 1930
Secretary, Gladys Wilkinson, Apt. 43, 617 W. 113th St., New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Vincent (Beatrice Larsen) of Altamonte, Florida, are the proud parents of a baby son, born Tuesday, October 22, 1929 at the Orlando-Florida Sanitarium. The baby weighs seven pounds and has been named Hugh.

Mrs. Vincent is a member of Kappa Epsilon Sorority. Mr. Vincent is a son of Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Vincent of Winter Park. He attended Oberlin after leaving Rollins and is now assistant manager of the Royal Fernery at Altamonte.

Katherine Hosmer, who has won an exchange scholarship to France, after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Edison sailed for Europe on September 25th in the French Liner De-Grasse. She is studying at the Ecole Normal near Paris.

Carl Warner attended the quarterly meeting of the Florida Division of the American Chemical Society at the University of Florida, October 19. On his way up he stopped over to see old friends on the campus.

Leonard D. Seaver has continued his work during the summer with the Scoville manufacturing company in his home town, Waterbury, Conn. Seaver has not been content with merely learning the entire business from start to finish but has also listed among his accomplishments, that of a journalist. In July's edition of the Scoville Bulletin, a neatly edited little magazine, appeared a most creditable article entitled "A Bit About Our Wire Mill." It was as interesting as the first sentence sounds, "Yeast cakes and diamonds." Although tempted by Bassett and D. B. McKay, who are in South America, it is wagered that Leonard will stick and reach the top.

Annie Campbell has returned to Hartford Seminary, Hartford, Conn., where she is specially preparing herself for church service. During the summer she was in New Jersey in charge of a children's department in church assemblies. Because of her dramatic ability and love of children the line that Annie is following is one that she is particularly fitted for.

According to the Providence, R. I., Bulletin of October 5th, Annie is one of twelve students in the Theological Seminary at Hartford who have seen duty in local mission fields of the Congregational Church.

Paul Hilliard and his bride are in Ft. Myers where Paul is again situated as a professor in the high schools of that city.

Florence McKay is teaching at the Longwood-Altamonte school. She, with two other members of the faculty have an apartment in Longwood. Florence spends the week-end with her parents in Sanford.

Edithe Draa, although she deserted the class of 1928 her senior year and graduated from Tallahassee, remains still on the class membership. She taught last winter in the Eau Gallie high school and her reputation as a pedagogue was excellent. This winter she has been placed nearer her home, as Spanish and History instructor in the Titusville high school.

We hear that "Bill" Hohannes is entered in the Harvard Law School. If he really gets there, his Rollins classmates wish him every success.

James Shoesmith surprised everyone last spring by announcing his marriage to Miss Pansy Faye of Lakeland. Mrs. "Jimmie" Shoesmith is an attractive and petite brunette, say those few who have seen her. The couple are living at Clewiston where Jimmie has a good job with the sugar company and therefore they are not seen very frequently. Happiness and good luck "Jimmie" from pals of old.

Mark Wolff, remembered as the diminutive but speedy quarterback on Rollins 1926 grid team, is still in Pontiac, Mich., where he is located with the Pontiac Manufacturing Company.

Barbara Sheffield is secretary to Paul Popence, eugenist and author, who is in charge of The Human Betterment Foundation at Pasadena, California. Barbara and her mother have an apartment at 95 South Los Robles Ave., Pasadena, and write that they are delighted with their surroundings and new associations.

Mr. Cale Young Rice, Honorary, well known poet and author, has recently written an opera which has been acclaimed "a monument to American music." The opera, "Yolando of Cyprus," has been presented by the American Opera Company of Chicago at the Majestic theatre.

Dr. E. E. Slosson, Honorary, whose sudden passing away was a great shock to Rollins people, is the subject of a tribute in the December number of the Book League Monthly by President Hamilton Holt.

Mrs. John N. Huttig (Laura Randall) has just returned to Winter Park after a summer spent in the north. Mr. Huttig and their small daughter accompanied her.

Lloyd "Army" Armstrong is working in a broker's office in Wall Street.

CLASS OF 1929

Reunion in 1931
Secretary, Nancy Brown, Blountstown, Fla.

William Bacon Evans after spending the month of September in Italy, flew by the India Mail plan from Naples to Gaza in Palestine. The flight took three days because, as Mr. Evans put it, the plane came to earth to sleep. He continued his journey by rail via Damascus to Ras-el-Metu, in Syria, where he is teaching. He wishes to be remembered to all his Rollins friends.

Bob Burhans reports that he has been general chore boy for the Bunnyn Remedy Company of Waterloo, Iowa, this summer and has aspirations toward a corner in the letterhead in the future. Better yet, Bob expects to return for commencement of 1930.

Philip Cummings, who left Rollins in the spring for Spain where he taught English, is an instructor in Spanish at Principia Junior College, St. Louis, Mo.

Bill Davis has transferred his energies to the University of Florida where he is studying law. He has visited the campus once or twice this fall.

Russ Fuller is being loyal to home territory and is seen in Orlando and vicinity. Russ has entered the Insurance business.

Evelyn Green spent some time on the campus at the opening of college.

Rollins has a graduate of '29 on the campus this year. Mary Hall, after attending the business college at Oberlin last summer, returned to Rollins and is secretary to the Dean of Women and also assistant to Miss Thomas. Mary says she attended the grand "get-to-gether" of the Rollins Club in Cleveland.

Buddy Goodell and his wife are residing in Davenport.

Donald White and Harrie James are studying abroad. Don at the University of Vienna, Harrie at the University of Geneva.

Hollis Ingram was married September 9th to Miss Frances Howard of Orlando. They are now living in New Orleans where he is in the Tulaine Medical School. Frances attended Rollins in 1924-25 and is a member of Sigma Phi.

Anna Margaret James attended the Cleveland Rollins meeting with Mary Hall and Mary Virginia Fisher. She is now attending the State Normal School at Farmville, Virginia taking work for a certificate in Education.

Wilbur Jennings who is connected with the Hoover Vacuum Cleaner Company of Canton, Ohio, has recently been transferred from the Cleveland office to Atlanta, Georgia. He spent Thanksgiving with his family in Winter Park.

Lucille Langston spent a pleasant summer in Tennessee. We do not know what Lucille is doing this winter.

Virginia Lawrence after thinking she had moved to Miami Beach accepted a position with Tamblyn & Brown and is assisting Mr. Ralph Clark at the college in the publicity office.

Rodman Lehman is teaching General Science and History at the Cherokee Junior High in Orlando and is consequently a frequent visitor on the campus.

Dorothy McMakin attended the summer school at Gainesville and is teaching in Orlando.

We understand that Virginia Mitchell can be found at home in Coconut Grove.

Ione Pope has been concentrating her efforts in assisting the State Plant Board of the Dept. of Agriculture headquarters in Orlando.

Mrs. Race after travelling all over from Detroit to Birmingham has returned to her home in Winter Haven.

Ernest Upmeyer is with Stone and Webster, New York contractors with offices at Tampa.

Another graduate who has been covering territory is Phyllis Walter. Together with Ruth Cole, Phyllis attended the National convention of Phi Mu Sorority at Boston. After spending an unforgettable week-end at President Holt's she visited in New York and Minneapolis, finally returning to her home in Orlando only to make plans for entering Johns Hopkin Hospital in February.

The following message has been received from Johns Hopkins Hospital at Baltimore:

"To Whom it may Concern:

"We, the undersigned, have sorrowfully deserted the leisure life on Rollins College Campus for the strenuous toil of relieving the suffering of mankind.

"Following in the footsteps of Florence Nightingale, we perform choledochoduodenostomies, salpingostomies, pancreatico-cholecystostomies and thyroparathyroidectomies on 'stiffs.'

"By painstaking microscopic study we are able to determine whether our patients are suffering from polymorphonuclear neutrophilic leucocytosis or polymorphonuclear eosinophilic leucopenia; also by use of the sphygmomanometer we determine diastolic and systolic B. P. We have learned to handle with equanimity headless trunks of human bodies and various disembodied human parts, such as heads, legs, toes, ears, lungs, hearts, livers and stomachs.

"As regards our 'new husbands,' 'babies,' 'homes,' 'automobiles' and 'honors,' we still have hopes. However, if they do not soon materialize we will return to our Alma Mater and the moonlight nights on Lake Virginia.

Sara Frances Doggett, '31
Louis Boutwell, '31

Ruth Ward, '29
Johns Hopkins Hospital,
Baltimore, Md.

The Class of '29 extend to President Holt, the faculty, the student body, and especially to the Freshman their sincerest wishes for an interesting and successful year.

Helen Grace Read, is this year teaching the sixth grade at the New Smyrna school. During the summer she attended Asheville Normal. As a teacher, Miss Read has won high recommendations during the past three years.

Iverne Galloway is the first member of this Class to break into the literary world. Her engaging article in the December number of the Review of Reviews magazine discusses the real value of Rollins as compared with the unnamed college from which she transferred. Congratulations, Iverne, we're proud of you.

"The Hudson and It's Moods" is the title of a handsomely illustrated and impressively edited volume which has just come from the press and which is dedicated to an honorary alumnus of Rollins. It is fitting that this historically important as well as artistically appealing book describing the Hudson River should be dedicated as follows: "To the Honorable Cornelius A. Pugsley, Lover of Nature, to whom the present and future generations are indebted for his practical patronage of public parks and whose encouragement has made possible 'The Hudson and It's Moods.'"

Phyllis A. Walter was Editor of the Handbook of the Woman's Athletic Association for 1929-30. Miss Walter says in her foreword that this, the second handbook is offered to the women of Rollins College "with the desire for the promotion and fostering of the highest spirit of sportsmanship and co-operation. With this publication comes a hearty invitation for all those interested in clean sports to join our organization".

Ross Robertson, after taking a trip to New York shortly after graduation secured a position with a large chemical concern at Belle Glade, in the Everglades.

Sid Stoneburn is rehearsing with Jack Pettis' recording orchestra with the intention of playing in the Biltmore this winter and perhaps appearing at the Miami-Biltmore for the season.

Edwin W. Dickinson, husband of Frances (Pat) Foley Dickinson, has recently received another honor in the field of art. One of his paintings has just received the second Altman prize and will be shown at the Winter show of the National Academy of Design.

Edwina Peterson Carruth (Mrs. E. A.) writes that she has "a new husband, consequently a new home, a new automobile, a new position, new honors, but no complex." Edwina is living at 716½ Palm Street, West Palm Beach, Fla.

Ed Sherbondy recently decided he wished to see the West Coast of these United States and left the big city for Frisco. After spending several days there he went on to Los Angeles where he is now connected with the Commercial Sales Department of the Geo. Belsey Co., Distributors in Southern California of General Electric Refrigerators. Ed doesn't think it fair to compare California and Florida as he thinks them wonderful each in its own way. His address is 1158 West 28th Street, Los Angeles.

Ben Pound is in the circulation department of Colliers Company in New York City.

James "Spic" Arroyo is employed in a broker's office on Wall Street.

CLASS OF 1930

President: Chester Ihrig
Vice-President: Charlotte Stienhans
Secretary: Robert Pepper
Treasurer: Robert Sprague

Ralph Lasbury, Jr., was married November 2 to Cecelia Chase of Winter Park, in Philadelphia. The parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Chase of Winter Park, gave a reception following the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Lasbury are making their home at 330 Laurel Street, Hartford, Conn.

Fred Chase has transferred to Dartmouth where he will be graduated next June.

Elizabeth Wheatley was married to Mr. Robert Johnson of Winter Park on the morning of September 25th at the Alpha Omega Chapter House of Phi Mu. Betty was initiated into Phi Mu on September 23 with other members of the Alpha Omega local sorority which is the second local sorority to be admitted into a national fraternity. Betty and her husband are living in Winter Park.

Among transfers to Rollins this year the following have entered the Class of '30: John Armstrong, Princeton University; Gertrude Curn, Southern College and Sterling P. Holland, Washington and Lee.

Ruth Cole recently won the medal for the best essay written on Florida History given by the Florida Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. Her essay was entitled "The Battle of Olustee." It is to be published in pamphlet form and distributed throughout the state in the high schools.

CLASS OF 1931

President: William Reid
Vice-President: Nancy Dickinson
Secretary: Robert Stephens
Treasurer: Alfred Rashid

Hello Alumni, the Homecoming was a treat. The Junior Class wishes to extend to you an invitation to visit us often.

In our travel over the campus we find Lefty Moore holding down the Presidency of the Student Association while in his spare moments he is making yards in his third year on the gridiron. On the same field we find Bill Reid, Al Rashid, Ham Scholfield, Bus Tracey and Ralph Scanlon.

Ellen Huffer still continues to be our mainstay in the Library.

The Math Department needing an assistant picked our own Bob James.

Lake Virginia wouldn't seem the same without Jewel Lewter and Bill Rice giving their A. B. C's.

The Class of '31 claims three-quarters of the Tennis Team with Bob Proctor, Bob Stephens and George Holt brushing the summer's dust off the old racquets in preparation for another successful season.

Dave Schnuck lies in wait, seemingly lost without his basketball.

Ozzie Harris is oiling up the old Vestris hoping for a race with Lady Astor.

The Little Theatre with the help of Elsie Braun, Jane Folsom and Myra Thomas keeps turning out those enjoyable one-act plays.

Catching the spirit of '31 "Candy" Secor won the assistant Editorship of the Tomokan and Whiting Hall an editorship on the Sandspur.

The girls basketball team of '31 is headed for the championship with Marg LoBean at the helm.

James S. Cox, who transferred to George Washington University, has been initiated by the Alpha Nu Chapter of Kappa Alpha and is living at the Chapter House, 1340, 21st St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

Merlin Barnes writes that Unk Starnes, Bill Davis, Carl Luttrell, Howard Sapp, Charlie McGruder and himself have organized a Rollins Club at the University of Florida and whenever they get homesick for Rollins they call a meeting of the Club. Merlin says he is enjoying his work in law very much, has been pledged Alpha Tau Omega and is singing a first tenor in the Glee Club. He is sending his sister to Rollins next year.

Trying Rollins for the first time and welcomed into our class: Sara Cover, Stetson; Dorothy Carr, Ohio State; Whiting Hall, Vanderbilt; William Hinckley, St. Joseph Junior College; Isabel Jewel, Western College for Women; Benjamin Kendrick, Columbia University; Yasuo Matsumoto, Tokyo; Dorothy Mitten-dorf, University of Chicago; Matilda Mizener, Principia; John Ring-er, University of Nebraska; Hazel Ruff, Seton-Hill College; Candace Secor, Iowa State University; Frank Walker, St. Joseph Junior College. Ruth Weaver, Lucy Cobb Junior College and Isabel Williams, College of City of Detroit, can't say enough for the old Alma Mater.

"Enrich your holiday happiness by giving to the Rollins Loyalty Fund."

TRUSTEE NOTES

Irving Bacheller who with Mrs. Bacheller has returned to their beau-tiful estate "Gate o' the Isles" as-sisted Owen D. Young in welcoming Mme. Currie to his alma mater, St. Lawrence University, last October.

Mrs. George E. Warren and her sister, Mrs. Homer Gage, are having portraits of their parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Knowles who were responsible for much of the early work of Rollins, painted for presentation at Founder's Week.

Grace Livingston Hill, author of "Ariel Custer" and many other books, was at one time director of physical education for women at Rollins. Her course at that time was called "calisthenics." She is a niece of Isabella M. Alden, "Pansy."

Mrs. Orpha Pope Grey has been appointed state organizer for Flor-ida by the national president of the Story Tellers league. Mrs. Grey is now teaching at the Dearborn Acad-emy at Davis Island, Tampa, Fla.

The Alumni Office Says:

MEET OUR CONTRIBUTORS

SINCE our three principal contributors to this number of the Record are famous people whose records appear in "Who's Who" and elsewhere, very little introduction is needed. We shall, therefore endeavor to supplement the generally known facts:

DR. WARD

That he loves Rollins, Dr. Ward has proved time and time again. Because of his devotion and loyalty he has given Rollins that priceless heritage which will live forever in the hearts of us all for he practices with distinction those great principles about which he so eloquently preaches. The contribution which he has made here has strengthened the cause of Christian Education and will project into centuries to come, his high ideals and his noble character."

REX BEACH

As President of the Rollins Alumni Association Mr. Beach confesses he does not know what an alumnus is. But he confesses it in the true Rex Beach style, that is to say, replete with interesting humor. But if every Rollins alumnus measured up to Rex Beach according to the following definition of him by President Holt, we wouldn't have to worry about the matter: "Rex Beach, athlete, explorer, novelist, playwright, farmer, most distinguished son of Rollins College, for the courage with which you have met every adventure of life, for your success as a popular writer of fiction, for the distinction you have brought upon your Alma Mater, Rollins College confers upon you the degree of Doctor of Literature, and admits you to all its rights and privileges."

FREDERICK L. LEWTON

It is most fitting that the subject of this sketch should write about the first Rollins Reunion for he was instrumental in arranging that now historical occasion.

After leaving Rollins Mr. Lewton attended Drexel Institute from which he was graduated in 1895. He later attended George Washington University. On June 29, 1899 he was married to Emilie Marie Hem-pel who also attended Rollins in 1890-91. Mrs. Lewton died January 11, 1929. Mr. Lewton taught at Drexel from 1895-1904. He has been curator in the division of textiles in the U. S. National Museum since 1912. Mr. Lewton is a director of the Northwestern Savings & Loan Assn., a member of the Botanical Society of Washington, the Washington Academy of Sciences and the Philadelphia Academy of Natural Science. He is author of numerous papers on the botany of economic plants. His home is 113 Chestnut Ave., Takoma Park, Md.

Likewise Our Advertisers

Mr. Sherwood Foley, having returned from his honeymoon in France is more than ever the genial host at the Seminole. Rollins traditions galore fasten themselves onto this famous resort hotel and add to its charm and attractiveness. For many years the Seminole has been the very popular rendezvous for returning Rollins men and women. Let's wish it many more as the New Year approaches.

THE LITTLE GREY HOUSE

And in line with good eats and pleasant associations it is quite proper to refer to the Little Grey House in Maitland. Its popularity is increasing so rumor says. Even the exclusive and retiring Tombstone Club of the Faculty can resist its lure no longer.

MRS. BAKER'S BOOKS

At last a real book on Florida Wild Flowers is available. The fact that it is the work of the wife of the most beloved Rollins professor will add interest and appeal. But Mrs. Baker's reputation as a scientifically accurate writer and as the outstanding authority on Florida Wild Flowers will indicate to former students that here is an opportunity to provide pleasure for themselves and necessary educational training for their children. The Alumni Association wishes to assist Mrs. Baker in her effort to secure at least slight return for a notable contribution to the entire state of Florida.

THE ROLLINS PRESS

Don't think you have to deny yourself the dependable service of THE ROLLINS PRESS if you have left Winter Park. They tell us at the Press that they give the same careful attention to inquiries and orders from old Rollins people as though you walked right in yourself. More and more people are discovering that the Rollins Press work bears the hall mark of quality and distinction.

ROLLINS HOSIERY MILLS

We again have the privilege of calling your attention to the back cover of the Record. Certainly no more practical or appreciated gift could be selected than hosiery. It seems the usual thing that no one either men or women, has too many pairs of hosiery, and a gift of stockings at Christmas time fills a need very nicely and expresses a very practical sentiment in a very practical gift.

"The Rollins Hosiery Mills extends best wishes to Rollins College and to every member of its vast alumni. May this Christmas be the happiest you have every experienced."

The Seminole Hotel

The Unofficial Alumni Dormitory on Beautiful Lake Osceola

For many years the Seminole Hotel has been the headquarters for returning alumni and friends of Rollins. This is due to the fact that the Seminole has always played a distinguished part in the life of every undergraduate.

Who does not remember the thrill of having dinner in the great dining room overlooking Lake Osceola in the presence of the distinguished and great?

The meetings and luncheons of the Rollins Alumni Association are held here annually.

The Seminole Hotel was last year the official host of the Rollins Institute of Statesmanship.

The season for 1929-30 opens January 1, 1930.

SPEED HER UP!

JUST AS the Rollins Tars are speeding it up on Lake Maitland let's speed up the contributions to the ROLLINS LOYALTY FUND so that we can reach our goal of $6,000 for 1929 by the closing date, December 30.

So FAR 153 loyal sons and daughters of Old Rollins have given $1,849.29 toward the goal of $6,000. A little speed and we shall sweep past the markers! Something from Everyone Given Gladly! Make it $2, whatever you will, or what have you!

PRESIDENT HAMILTON HOLT

Says of the Rollins Loyalty Fund: "College men and women of America consider college education so necessary to the good of the commonwealth and so prohibitive in price that they are contributing to it annually through the Loyalty Fund just as they contribute to the church, to the community chest, and other good causes.

"Education is the gift of society; and it is impossible for an individual to gain a college education without the aid of generations of society who have developed a college plan and educational ideals.

"The alumni and former students of long ago adopted this plan. It is true and tried. I feel confident Rollins men and women will find it a very practical means of translating their loyalty into a living endowment."

Florida Wild Flowers

(A popular handbook for flower hunters)

By MARY FRANCES BAKER (Mrs. Thomas R. Baker)

In this delightful book, FLORIDA WILD FLOWERS, Mrs. Baker (wife of the greatly beloved Rollins professor), a botanist of note in the southeastern United States, has accurately described seven hundred of the more common and interesting wild flowers of Florida, and has made their identification very simple. Identification of these flowers has been difficult because heretofore the only sources of information have been ponderous technical manuals of botany.

Florida offers the flower-hunter something new of interest on each day of the year, for Nature works tirelessly there in winter as in summer, transmuting dull earth and air and water into fragrance and color and beauty. In Mrs. Baker's book this fragrance and color is carefully classified, from the great magnolia, whose perfumed flowers are larger than one's hand, to the tiny wolffia, smallest of the known plants, whose entire growth floating in the water is smaller than the head of a common pin. Many excellent illustrations enhance the value and charm of the work.
